Placing a spotlight on Singapore as a fast-rising cultural capital and key destination for artistic exchange and discoveries, and co-timed with Singapore Art Week, the 2024 edition of ART SG continues to herald and present new opportunities for the art scene in Singapore, Southeast Asia and beyond, and establish itself as a vital platform and meeting point for artists, curators, collectors, institutions, galleries and art enthusiasts.

Magnus Renfrew, Co-Founder, ART SG, said: "As Singapore emerges as a crucial player in the international art ecosystem, the 2024 edition will reaffirm the defining features of ART SG: an exceptional and uncompromising concentration of high-quality presentations; a vital convening point as Southeast Asia's leading fair for galleries, collectors, institutions from around the world and a commitment to advancing new opportunities for our gallery community."

ART SG in 2024 will unfold across three main sectors including the GALLERIES sector for diverse, multi-artist exhibitions; FOCUS which features galleries presenting solo or duo artist programs, or curated thematic presentations; and FUTURES, dedicated to supporting younger galleries under the age of 10 years, presenting specially created presentations for ART SG.

With the return of the TALKS program, ART SG will also be presenting a series of insightful conversations offering participants a chance to delve deeper into Southeast Asian contemporary culture in context to the global art landscape. Curator, writer and Founder and Director of 'in-tangible institute' Zoe Butt will curate bipartite sessions on critical issues within the Southeast Asian ecosystem, including the urgency of support for the next generation of artistic practitioners, and the role and relevance of collectors, curators and dealers within this support network.

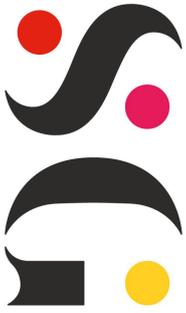

In addition, ART SG's visitors will have the opportunity to explore the rich and vibrant programming presented by Singapore's leading visual art museums, cultural institutions, private foundations and collections, as well as ART SG Cultural Partners for Singapore Art Week 2024.

Jin Yee Young, Co-Head UBS Global Wealth Management Asia Pacific and Country Head UBS Singapore, said: "UBS is proud to bring back ART SG for a second year, kicking off APAC's art calendar. Singapore serves as an important gateway to the vibrant APAC art scene with robust interest amongst art collectors. In our latest global art survey report, 9 out of 10 Singapore art collectors were planning to continue attending art exhibitions. A vast majority (7 out of 10) collectors in Singapore are optimistic about the art market over the next six months. Singapore has one of the highest representations of female artists' works amongst art collectors. UBS believes contemporary art has the power to inspire people to reimagine a better future. The partnership between UBS and ART SG creates an impactful platform for people to connect through art, share ideas, and bring opportunities to life."

medical gauze and rolled tissue paper, inspired by the design of low-cost apartments in Kuala Lumpur from the 1990s

- Shedding light on the Mekong region of Thailand, Warin Lab Contemporary (Bangkok) will showcase The Study of Khon Pi Luang by ubatsat, paper works investigating the vanishing ecology of the Great Mekong river and its riparian ecosystem in the face of modernity, in addition to The Martyrs of the Plateau, Lord of the Toads, and the Monument of a Small Rice Box by Nakrob Moonmanas, which recalls Isaan folklore and political conflicts between Siam (present-day Thailand) and the Mekong

PLATFORM

Featuring five artists from diverse backgrounds and generations, PLATFORM presents a curated exhibition of dynamic, large-scale and site-specific installations situated across the fair:

- A mixed-media installation Home by British-Chinese artist Gordon Cheung, in the form of traditional Chinese windows, made from financial newspapers and bamboo. Hovering between states of “being”, the installation’s “ghost” architecture recalls homes that were demolished in the face of China’s rapid urbanisation. Having witnessed the 1997 British to China handover of the then colonised Hong Kong, Cheung’s dual identity as British-Chinese prompts him to think about the definition of home, where and what it is, and the narratives of conquest
- Immortal Words, a bio-art project by Singapore-based artist Boedi Widjaja presenting collectible DNA-spiked objects through capsule vending machines, is a continuation of his decade-long research into body, memory, language and encoding. The project is supported by the National Arts Council and developed in consultation with geneticist Associate Professor Eric Yap of Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine
- Translated as “Hornbill Circus” from Sarawak Malay, the ongoing project Kenyalang Circus by Sarawakian textile artist Marcos Kueh interrogates the possibility of authenticity within a culture of icons, taking a satirical eye to the commercialisation of Borneo and Sarawak as “Malaysia’s exotic unknown”. Marcos Kueh will present new large-scale textile works as part of the Kenyalang Circus series, integrating visual motifs commonly associated with Southeast Asia – especially Borneo and Sarawak – within the format of large woven banners, creating a subtle commentary on cultural expectations and appropriation

- Donna Ong will present works from the “Every World” series, creating fantastical worlds through her unique artistic practice of arranging miniature hand-cut paper shapes of tropical flora and fauna housed inside a glass vitrine. This mode of display evokes the idea of a terrarium, a miniature landscape, however while a terrarium contains real plant specimens, their placement and environment are entirely deliberate and controlled, bridging reality and the magical
- British abstract painter Ian Davenport will present Lake, a large-scale painting-installation that used 120 litres of paint in its creation, and an ambitious evolution of his “puddle” paintings. The genesis of this series of work at this scale started at the 57th Venice Biennale and has continued across various sites, most recently in 2022 at Rome’s historic cloister, Chiostro Del Bramante
